Disabled Vet Meets

Nearest Man? 2 of 'Em

Apple Is Not Enough For Teacher Today

More Pay and Freedom Asked These Days.

WASHINGTON. — Any moment now teachers may be allowed to act like human beings.

That's the prediction—and the hope—of Dr. Francis Brown, executive secretary of the President's Commission on Higher Education. Dr. Brown said that two developments may come from the teacher shortage.

They are better pay and more freedom for teachers.

There are 12,000 teachers, mostly in one-room schools, who make $700 or less a year. Even counting in the city aristocrats, the average teacher's salary is but $1,800 a year.

As for comfort, Brown says almost every community has a double standard. One is for the way teacher must behave, in and out of the classroom. The other is for regular people.

"As an example," he said, "in how many communities can a teacher smoke? Or have a sociable drink? 'I'm not condoning tobacco or liquor. But I'm pointing out a double standard does exist—and it shouldn't. Teachers should be allowed to act like other people.'"

Brown believes that if teachers don't get more pay and freedom, the shortages will get shorter.

Half of those going to teachers' colleges today don't intend to teach. And in another three or four years, the war's bumper baby crop will be starting to school.

Brown explained that while he thinks teachers should be given more freedom, they shouldn't run wild.

"After all, teachers are setting an example for students," he said.

He said, yes, he had noticed a story about a versatile Chicago miss who doubled as a teacher and nightclub dancer.

Did he approve?

"Well," said Brown. "Well, in theory, yes."

World Bank Wants More

Nations to Seek Funds

WASHINGTON. — The 18-nation-dollar World Bank and Fund, urged promptly by both United Nations and UNRRA, moved toward their goal of making "a major contribution to the restoration of international trade and domestic economic stability in all countries."

Frankly hanging out the "customers wanted" shingle, the twin lending agencies concluded their first annual meeting with the election of Hugh Dalton, British chancellor of the exchequer, as the new chairman of the bank and fund boards of governors.

London was selected as the site for the next meeting in September, 1947.

So far only six nations have indicated that they will seek long-term loans for reconstruction and development and none of the six has yet made a formal application.

Altogether their requested loans total more than $1,500,000,000, with France seeking 500 millions, Poland 600 millions, Czechoslovakia 350 millions, Denmark 30 millions, Chile 50 millions, and Holland an unspecified amount.

New Disease Is Traced to Mice-Borne Bug

Many Suffer

NEW YORK. — Bites by mice-borne mites—no larger than a pinhead—caused the mysterious fever that gripped 100 New York residents during the summer months, the health department declared.

Jarvis Welsbach, state health commissioner, said the fever—characterized by a rash, high temperature and prostration—was a "new disease as far as human knowledge is concerned."

The mites are only accidentally transmitted to humans, Weinstein said. He added that tests showed the bug was present in the blood of patients and that infected mice were found in homes in which the disease occurred.

British Financier Elected

Head of World Bank

WASHINGTON. — Hugh Dalton, British chancellor of the exchequer, was unanimously elected chairman of the joint boards of governors of the 42nd World Bank and the 43rd International Monetary Fund.

The World Bank admitted Italy to membership and borrowing privileges, along with Turkey, Syria and Lebanon.

Approving every move of the International Monetary Fund, governors of the World bank voted to accept Italy into the $7,670,000,000 institution with only one dissent—last of Yugoslavia.

Willie Goes to School at 23

Everybody's joking Willie Wells about going back to school. They remember when Willie would hide out in the woodshed—seared to bring his report card home to Pa.

But under the G. I. Bill of Rights, Willie (who has a wife and baby) is getting a free education at the Agricultural College. And Uncle Sam is giving him a fine report: "Department, excellent; Program, above average."

That goes for all those under-graduate veterans. Like Willie, they appreciate an education more than ever now. They're industrious and well-behaved—their favorite beverage is milk, or a temperate glass of beer. For them the "three R's" seem to mean: Responsibility, Resourcefulness, Restraint.

From where I sit, cynical folks who thought veterans would want to return to school—wouldn't stick to steady habits of work and moderation—have their answer in "undergraduate" like Willie.

Series of Jewel Thieft Baffles Scotland Yard

Mysteries Face Sleuths as Palace, Two Boudoirs Are Ransacked.

LONDON.—Still without a trace of the jewels valued at $600,000, the general staff of Scotland Yard is confronted with three more mysteries, the disappearance of theft of $60,000 in gems and furs from St. James palace and from the boudoirs of two American-born titled women.

The thieves who have got away with $300,000 of jewelry and furs in the last two months in Britain's postwar crime wave added these three coups to the records in Scotland Yard.

1. Stole $30,000 worth of diamonds from the fabulous St. James palace, the residence of the royal household. The victim was American-born Lady Piers Legh, wife of the prince of Wales who became king of England and later duke of Windsor.

2. Looted the home of the marchioness M. Harrington, daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy, former United States ambassador to the court of St. James. The loss was estimated at $400,000 in gems.

3. Robbed the Ormeau square home of J. Harvey and his daughter, Betty Levitt, of $200,000 in pearls and two million cars.

A Scotland Yard pronouncement on the St. James palace case raised speculation that it might have been an "inside" job. The detectives said that case was "not a burglary—the jewels have only been reported stolen."

British Press association speculated that a prewar gang of "country house" burglars might have picked up commands training during the war to accomplish the "cat" burglary of the duchess of Windsor's apartment and the other baffling crimes.

To cope with the thefts, Scotland Yard sent six Labrador retrievers to the mounted police school in the hope that their hunting noses could be trained to sniff out a clue which has baffled the nation's foremost experts in crime and fingerprinting.

Mr. Piers and his wife, the former Sarah Polk Bradford of Nashville, Tenn., live in an apartment near the famous "clock tower" built by Henry VIII when he was holding court there with his successive wives. The palace, occupied by the royal family for many years, now is used on rare state occasions.

See Baffling Touch.

The method at the Harrington home was that of a modern "Raffles" and followed a pattern of minute planning combined with exact knowledge of the victim's movements and secret hiding places for precious stones.

"The robbery took place during two hours when the house was empty," Lady Harrington's housekeeper said. She reported that when she returned after a short absence, "I found the front door open. The lock did not look as if it had been forced. I went to Lady Harrington's room and found the jewels missing."

The baffled Harvey family believed the robbery there was committed while they dined.

Nearly two-thirds of the $300,000 haul in two months was taken in four burglaries in ten days. Sandwiched between the Windsor and Harrington thefts was the robbery of $48,000 in gems and furs from Mrs. Vivyan Van Damm, whose husband operates a burlesque show in London.

Beatrice Lillie, Canadian-born actress who now is Lady Peel, contributed $30,000 worth of gems to an earlier "cat" theft.

WAC Gully in Gem Theft

Gets 5 Years at Har Labor

FRANKFURT, GERMANY.—WAC Capt. Kathleen Nash Durant was convicted in the Kronberg crown jewel theft.

She was sentenced to five years at hard labor and dismissal from U. S. military service.

A court-martial found Mrs. Durant guilty of larceny and embezzlement. Estimates of the value of the loot ran as high as $1,500,000.

Mrs. Durant and her husband, Col. Jack W. Durant, were brought back to Germany for trial after they were arrested in Chicago early in the summer.

Mrs. Durant formerly was mess officer for an officers' rest camp at Kronberg Castle.

UNRA Finds No Evidence

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA.—A special three-man UNRA investigating commission reported that it had found no evidence of the diversion of large quantities of UNRA supplies to the Yugoslav army.

The commission said it could "state categorically that the great bulk of two million tons of UNRA supplies sent to Yugoslavia has been effectively distributed among the people of the country and undoubtedly has saved millions of lives in Yugoslavia."

More Than 100,000 GI Babies On Campuses

Indianapolis, Ind.—There are more than 100,000 GI babies on the campuses of American colleges today.

This estimate was made by Miss Emma C. Puchner, national child welfare director of The American Legion on the basis of the tabulation of the reports from the first 62 colleges and universities to reply in the GI campus baby survey she is making.

Director Puchner said the reports indicate that about 30 percent of all GI students at colleges today were married and about 30 percent of them have babies.

Dozens of college presidents and deans claim many expressions that the million or more GI babies now enrolled in the nation's colleges are a self-reliant lot, who if given half a chance, will solve their own difficulties of readjustment in crowded university towns.

Government Puts Ban on Building of Play Centers

WASHINGTON.—The government banned the construction of swimming pools, boardwalks, roller coasters, drive-in theaters, parking lots, concrete tennis courts, and walls and fences of wood, brick or concrete when any of these projects costs more than $200.

The civilian production administration also took two other steps designed to aid the housing program: It reduced from $15,000 to $10,000 the amount of registered work that may be done in industrial, utility and transportation buildings without a permit, unless the buildings have a floor area of 10,000 square feet or more.

It proposed a 500 a ton subsidy to wire nail manufacturers to increase their output. The industry advisory committee took the plan under consideration.

Employment Service Places Over 17,000 Vets

Veterans placed in local, non-agricultural jobs through the facilities of the Kentucky State Employment Service during 1946 totaled 17,382 according to B. I. Madden, Veterans Employment Representative for Kentucky.

Handicapped veterans made up 11.5 percent of all veteran placements for a total of 1,991.

"In spite of this accomplishment in effecting placements more than 35,000 able-bodied and 7,000 handicapped veterans were registered for employment at the end of December," Mr. Madden stated. "Employers are urged to take advantage of this excellent source of the Nation's best manpower by offering employment to veterans through the Kentucky State Employment Service."

WAGES AND PRICES

About 15 months ago Mr. Henry Wallace, then Secretary of Commerce under President Truman, asserted that wages in the automobile industry could go up 30 percent without prices of cars going up at all. It wasn't true, as all informed people knew at the time. But the statement tended to gain public support.

At least the statement helped gain public toleration for a long strike, which ended with about a 20 percent raise in wages. But even then the OPA was immediately convinced that increases in prices were made necessary. Little by little OPA raised the prices on cars until it had granted an average increase of 25 percent.

Same Play Again

In short, for a 20 percent increase in wages for auto workers the public was required, by OPA, to pay 25 percent more for cars. Now the auto workers are asking for another raise of about 25 percent in wages. Mr. C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, asserts that such a raise will also put prices of cars up by 25 percent. Mr. Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of the board of General Motors, also declares that wages cannot be raised without raising prices.

Some labor leaders, are maintaining that wages in general can go up about 25 percent without increasing prices. From last year's experience the public will quite readily understand that if wages go up again, prices must also go up. This leaves just one real issue. Is it to the interest of workers and the rest of the public for prices to keep going up and up?

Tit For Tat

Some unwise men are declaring that the raises they got last year are already neutralized by increased prices of the things they must buy. This is evidently true. Now if another raise in wages is granted, only to be followed by a still greater boost in prices, workers will be no better off. In fact they, and all the rest of us, will be worse off. Higher prices will finally cause buying to drop off. Then jobs will begin to drop off, leading to unemployment and finally to depression.

There is a way for everybody to gain — both workers and the general public. That way is for management and workers to co-operate to increase production so effectively that goods will be plentiful and prices will go down.

The Sound Way

Then the workers will have the equivalent of a real raise in wages because their present wages will buy more food and clothing. All of the public will benefit in the same way. This is sound economics. But for wages to keep going up and up only to be followed by prices going up and up, is unfortunate for workers and everybody else.

If we want to destroy the American economic order and force our country into state socialism that is the way to do it. Fifteen months ago many wondered seriously if Henry Wallace believed that wages could go up 30 percent in any industry without prices going up. Many now wonder if any informed people really think wages can go up 25 percent without raising prices. If we try it we will again learn the hard way.

Uncle Sam Says

Someday you'll be flipping away the calendar for 1957! You'll be singing at the top of your voice, "Happy New Year—a prospectus 1957." It could be both a happy and prosperous 1957 for everyone, but you unless you start doing something about it now. Even by investing as little as $3.75 a week out of earnings through the Payroll Savings Plan your nest egg in United States Savings Bonds on New Year's Day 10 years hence will reach the tidy total of $2,161.45. Meantime you will be building up a reserve in savings bonds, payable on demand, to deal with emergencies.
